Damaging Clover Field. Deputy Sheriff Charles E. Ayer, officers hurried a band of gypsies out of town post haste, Monday morning. The dirty band deserved all of the hurrying that was required of it. The first the officers heard of the unwelcome visitors was through a telephone call from the Daniel Shippee place, on the Wauregan road.

the Wauregan road.

There the gppsies were making threats as serious as one of burning the barn on the place because 14 horses owned by them and held in custody in the Shippee barn would not be given up until they paid an equivalent in money to the damage caused to Mr. Shippee's clover field. The The gypsies had camped not far from the Shippee farm during Sunday night and very early Monday morning had turned their horses into his fields to graze. They finally paid for the damage caused by the horses and were put on the move by the officers.

Last Day for Filing Bids for Constructing Federal Building-Murderer John Elliott Caused $500 Expense-Gypsies Ordered Out of Town-Woisard-Doniac Wedding - Six Diverces Granted by Judge Shumway Menday,

Postmaster Alexander Gilman seld on Monday afternoon that he does not know how many bids for the work have been filed, for they have been sent to Washington direct, but during the past few weeks he has received from 50 to 76 inquiries relative to the work from many sections of the country, these letters coming chiefly from contracting firms.

A condition under which the contract will be let out is that the building is to be completed within 16 months after the contract is awarded. How long a time will elapse between the filing of the bids and the making of the award is, of course, purely speculative.

the award is, or course, parely beliative.

Something over $50,000 is available for the construction of the building. Whether that will be sufficient to construct such a fine building as the plans call for remains to be seen, considering the advance during the past year of prices of materials and labor. It is possible that an increase in appropriation may be required.
